You rarely come across real talents like Chris. I had the pleasure of working with Chris at AbacusNext, collaborating on several projects to build our SDR team. Chris' ability to handle multiple projects was top level. He made a dramatic improvements in our new hire process. As a team member or a leader, Chris earns my highest recommendation.

August 26, 2020, Samuel was Chris' client

Chris is a great career coach to work with! I hired him to redo my resume and help me find my next role right after graduating from my MBA program at Babson College (DURING COVID-19!). He performed his resume ninjitsu and taught me so much about creating my own narrative during interviews. When I updated my LI account with the best practices he taught me, my views on skyrocketed 200%, and I just recently accepted a position as a Product Marketing Manager. The proof is in the pudding!

Christopher is an extraordinary professional who will work hard to ensure that you are ready for any interview that comes your way. He brings a lot of experience in talent acquisition and professional branding.

I had an hour conversation with Christopher through Zoom to prepare for an interview. He taught me how best to articulate my skills and experiences to cater to the career I was pursuing, and answer behavioural and situational questions without going off track. I was having some difficulty with interviews; however, after my prep with Christopher, I felt more confident and know how to better prepare for my interviews now. I would definitely recommend Christopher to anyone looking to start a new career; who has skills ...see more
